

KUBELIK COMES FOR CONCERT

Shows Some Feeling in Denying Story of Wearing Muff to Protect Hands.

PLAYS IN THE TABERNACLE

PRACTICING AMID DIFFICULTIES IN RAILROAD YARDS.

Jan Kubelik, fresh from a concert in Butte, where he had broken all previous records, notably the one set by Paderewski, came in last night over the Oregon Short Line with his party.

Seated in his private car, surrounded by a regular squadron of managers, press agents, with a box of dolls, cigars, and the like and some liquor that indicated that he is a connoisseur, he was found last night. With him is his wife, an auburn haired lady with an engaging smile.

But Kubelik's muff was not there. Inquiries about the muff caused a smile on his part. It was accompanied by a rather indignant glance toward his manager, Hugo Gorlitz, one of the best press agents that ever boomed a musician in America. Gorlitz knows that there is to be known of the great game of publicity. He has even invented a few new wrinkles of his own, notably that of insuring those famous fingers for $50,000.

Denies the Muff Yarn.

"I never did wear a muff," said Kubelik. "When I came off the ship at New York, some newspaper man snapped me. I was wearing a fur coat with long sleeves and had my hands folded together to keep them warm. Ever since then whenever I have gone, I find that more is written of the muff than I am supposed to wear than of the music that I play."

"How do you like all the sensational stuff that is written about you, Kubelik?" was asked. Here the violinist sat up and looked vigorous. "It makes me sick," he said. "I pick up a paper and find a great deal about my hair, my eyes and my hands. But about my art—"

In appearance Kubelik is a slim, dark haired, modest looking fellow. He hardly looks the 28 years that he lays claim to. He seems almost too formal to be the greatest violinist in the world. He talks fairly good English, but somewhat slowly. And, when one gets acquainted with him, it is discovered that he has an American sense of humor and can see jokes which his manager, Hugo Gorlitz, after thirty years' residence in England, is obliged to pass up.

"What do you think of the west?" the Herald asked. "The west is a beautiful country," he said. "I have seen almost too many of the beauties of the west to be able to say that I was in two weeks ago, destroyed utterly."

Kubelik was the first artist to profess his help to the ruined city. He received one of the first telephone messages out of there, too, being one of the concert in Mayor Schmitt. Kubelik's concert in Seattle netted more than $3,000 for the sufferers.

CURED BY CUTICURA IN TWO WEEKS FOR 75c.

Mrs. George J. Steese, of 701 Coburn St., Akron, Ohio, tells in the following letter of another of those remarkable cures of torturing, disfiguring skin humors—

"I feel it my duty to parents of other poor suffering babies to tell you what Cuticura has done for my little daughter. She broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three had used half of the cake of Soap and box of Ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body were as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without it again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents, which is all it cost us to cure our baby, after spending many dollars on doctors and medicines without any benefit whatever."

AMUSEMENTS

of a violinist, such as Kubelik is, on tour is an easy one makes a great mistake. The reporters found him busy practicing in the midst of the noise of switching engines and all the din of a railroad depot. When they said good-bye, he rushed back to his violin.

In the private car Edgemere, with Kubelik and his wife, were Hugo Gorlitz, Karl Junkermann, his private secretary, Ludwig Schwab, his accompanist, I. Goldberg, the treasurer, the Indian servant Dawson and a small host of lesser lights.

This afternoon before the concert Kubelik probably will be entertained and shown the sights of the city. Professor McClellan will give a private recital in the tabernacle for his benefit.

A crowded house is expected in the tabernacle tonight as the advance sale has been exceptional for Salt Lake City.

GRAFTERS BEAT THE RAILROADS

Hoboes and Dead Beats Are Taking Advantage of Corporation Generosity.

ARE SHAMELESS ABOUT IT

ONE MAN TRIES TO HAVE HIS MENAGERIE CARRIED FREE.

The generosity of the railroad companies in carrying destitute residents of San Francisco and other towns to points in the east has led to considerable imposition at the hands of grafters who have been carried without cost and fed along the line. No systematic attention has been paid to identifying refugees and scores of men and women that have been paid to identify themselves as refugees—have had little or no trouble securing transportation, although they had no claims upon the railroads' liberality.

A car auditor in charge of the first party of refugees which arrived from Ogden yesterday was walking through the car when he spied a familiar form in one of the seats. The fellow had his hat pulled down over his face. In the brim a pink card showed to all appearances that he was one of the 200 poor fellows who had lost their all in the quake and fire. Despite the pink card the auditor believed he had seen the fellow before. Thinking he might be mistaken he walked up to the sleeping man and touched him lightly upon the shoulder. "Where are you going?" he asked.

The little fellow overcame his surprise in a second and answered with a well-affected yawn. "To Chicago. I have a brother there. That was as far as he got, for the auditor had pulled the bell rope, and the train was already slowing down.

Back to Ogden for Him.

"What are you doing?" asked the man in the seat as his hand fingered the pink ticket in his hat brim. "I'm going to put you off so you can hike back to Ogden." That was the auditor who had recognized in the Chicago-bound "refugee" an Ogden hotel runner.

"The Nerve Nat of this party is undoubtedly that fellow up there leaning against that box," said one of the Rio Grande officials, as he pointed to a fellow on the depot platform last evening. "He has a bunch of animals in that box. He has been conducting some sort of a vaudeville show in various towns of Utah. He managed to get on the train at Ogden and with a ticket in his hat rode to Salt Lake as a refugee. He thinks we are heartless because we will not check his circus through to Kansas City."

The man in question uttered a low curse when a bystander asked him if he was a refugee.

"Yes; of course I am. I have been playing in the Lyceum in San Francisco with these animals. I reached Salt Lake all right, but these men squeeze me here think they are wise and tell me I can't take these animals any further without paying expressage. Didn't I lose everything but these three dogs and monkeys in the fire? Ain't these what I make my living with? How am I going to keep an engagement in Kansas City if I have to pay? I ain't got enough money to flag a charity best wagon on a daily day. Think I am going to leave these boys here when they have been doing stunts for me for five years?"

Work of Despicable Thief.

The stories of the theft of eighteen identification cards perpetrated by some sneak thief has been told. The scoundrel attempted to sell the tickets in Ogden, but was discovered. He escaped before the authorities could land him behind the bars. Three young boys reached Salt Lake several days ago and walked into the Salt Lake Route offices where they only asked for tickets to Los Angeles. Under question they confessed they had boarded a train in Oakland and traveled to Salt Lake "because it was so easy."

An Italian woman, who professed to be unable to speak the English language, rode from Ogden to Salt Lake before it was discovered that she was a beggar and had saved a few dollars by pretending to be a refugee. Similar cases are frequent. The local officials confess their inability to stop the imposition. In many cases the grafters are allowed to continue to their chosen destinations.

A blind fiddler who for years has been a familiar object in Salt Lake, was carried east and treated with all the kindness shown refugees. Tramps are allowed to go east by the railroad officials simply to get rid of them in this territory.

The rush of destitute to eastern points has become so great that many of the points are being taken by some cities to permit only those with relatives and friends stopping within the town gates. El Paso and other cities have already objected to the influx of dependent people.

The Southern Pacific and other roads from California are planning to ticket parties of fifty or more refugees and place these parties under the personal care of conductors. This will eliminate to some extent the grafting class.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Do not consent to an operation which may mean death until after you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. Note what it did for Mrs. Paul Oliver, whose letter follows:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was suffering from pains in my side and a serious female trouble. The doctors said to get well I must have an operation performed, but I would not consent to that.

I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and sent for a bottle; the first dose did me good, and after taking the first bottle I could sleep all right and I did not have those pains in my abdomen which I had all the time before. Now I can ride ten miles in a carriage, my color has returned, and I am full of life. I owe all this to the Vegetable Compound.

It has also done wonders for my thirteen-year-old daughter. I will never cease to praise it and recommend it to my friends.

MRS. PAUL OLIVER, St. Martinsville, La.

Thousands of women, residing in every part of the United States, bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills and creates radiant, buoyant female health. For your own sake try it.
